

Report 2017 on Relations between the European Parliament and national Parliaments - now available in English in section "About" / "Annual reports"

The Directorate for Relations with National Parliaments has just published the 2017 report on the main events and forms of interparliamentary cooperation during 2017. The report is a collection of inspiring examples of joint work on areas of mutual interest. It shows that throughout 2017 national Parliaments contributed substantially to the EU debates on the most pressing political, legislative, as well as institutional issues.

Ms Mairead McGuinness and Mr Bogusław Liberadzki, European Parliament's Vice-Presidents responsible for relations with national Parliaments, co-signed the preface of the report.
