European Youth Ideas - Moderation Policy

Thank you for taking the time to read this moderation policy. When sharing your ideas please remember the following simple rules.

We want our page to be a space where everyone, regardless of country or political persuasion, feels comfortable to participate. To ensure this, we cannot accept comments that are either offensive in themselves or clearly offensive to other people.

We ask you to avoid obscenities and other insulting language (no racism, xenophobia, calls to violence, discrimination based on religion, ethnic origin, gender, age, language, intemperate, or provocative messages...) Comments that are defamatory, unlawful or include copyright infringements are also against our rules and will not be published and we may ban users who keep on using offensive language!

We encourage you to post ideas that stick to the subject and would appreciate it if you refrain from posting advertisements, (for your businesses, blogs or websites, etc). This also applies to political campaigning on a national level. Spam and other off-topic items will not be published.
